

ATTN: NEWS DIRECTOR FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
DATE: February 27, 2003

CONTACT: Kim Bixby
(541) 791-8553 or president@mid-valleystc.org

JOB SEEKERS: BE YOUR BEST AND BEAT THE COMPETITION!

People looking to market themselves better or to determine their true skills should attend the workshop titled "You CAN Do More: How to Reinvent Yourself and Stand Out from the Crowd." The workshop will be held Saturday, April 12, 2003, and is presented jointly by the Society for Technical Communication (STC) Willamette Valley and Mid-Valley Chapters. All job seekers are welcome and will benefit from this event. Information and registration is available online at www.stcwvc.org or by calling (541) 791-8553.

"You CAN Do More: How to Reinvent Yourself and Stand Out from the Crowd" will run from 9 AM to 3 PM at the Mill Creek Inn in Salem. The cost is $50 for STC members and $75 for non-members. Emma Hamer, a Senior Career Advisor with Bernard Haldane Associates, the world's oldest and largest private career management firm, will present. Ms. Hamer will help attendees answer questions such as:

- How can you set yourself apart from other job applicants in today's tight economy? and
- How do you begin to determine what your real skills are and how do you transfer them to your next job?

Morning refreshments and a complete, delicious lunch are included in the cost.

The Willamette Valley and the Mid-Valley are the two Oregon chapters of the Society for Technical Communication. STC is an international, non-profit, professional association that advances the arts and sciences of technical communication. Its over 22,000 members include technical writers, editors, graphic designers, multimedia artists, Web and intranet page information designers, translators and others whose work involves making technical information understandable and available to those who need it.

#